Dedication

IN recognition of his unsurpassed ability as a coach, and in appreciation of his invariable loyalty to Presbyterian College, we, the editors dedicate this volume with affectionate esteem, to---

L. S. McMILLIAN

*"The mountains look on Marathon—
And Marathon looks on the sea;
And musing there an hour alone,
I dream'd that Greece might still be free."*

IN PRESENTING this the twentieth volume of the PAC-SAC we have earnestly endeavored to portray the life and activities upon our campus, and honor to one of our greatest poets, Lord Noel George Gordon Byron.

However, it is not our intention to hold him up as an example, further than to show that early perversion of mind and morals leads to satiety of past pleasures and disappointment in new ones.

Although a labor of love, it has been no easy task, but, if in the years to come, our humble efforts may bring pleasure to any of our classmates and strengthen our love for Alma Mater, we shall have our reward.

Order of Books

IN USING the life and works of Lord Byron as the theme of this book, we endeavor to show our appreciation of a character perhaps unique in the history of English Literature. Marked by unusual physical charm, high spirited, tender hearted, but embittered by an unhappy childhood and severe criticism of his early literary efforts, he became a virtual exile from his native land. But neither slanderous tongues nor political prejudice could dim the fire of genius and the creator of Childe Harold and Don Juan holds his place among the greatest of English poets.

Admirably exemplifying the spirit of a rebellious age, Byron was quick to recognize the fallacies of the social structure of his time, as many of his works show; but his dogmatic assertion of his own convictions, together with his indifference to public opinion, particularly in regard to his personal affairs, won for him the enmity of many of his contemporaries.

His love of liberty was a ruling passion, and he went to his death fighting for Greece's freedom with the same wild, imperious, impassioned zeal which characterized his life.

In working out this theme, we hope to blot out some of the spots which have darkened the fair name of Byron, and thus do honor to him whose genius has brought joy to all who love good literature.

"Thou art gone;
And he who would assail thee in thy grave,
Oh! let him pause! for who among us all
Tried as thou wert—
—ah, who amongst us all
Could say he had not err'd as much and more?"

In October, 1805, Byron entered Trinity College, Cambridge. He was only seventeen then but had already manifested an ardent desire for learning, having read a great deal of history, biography, theology, fiction, oratory, law, and poetry without limit.

*Byron graduated from Cambridge in March, 1808. He was not popular at the University and never thought of it with affection. While there, he had published his first volume, HOURS OF IDLENESS. There was nothing particularly fine about the book, but the critics could not forego the opportunity to thrash a Lord, and criticized the young poet's first attempts most severely.*

Although crippled from childhood, Byron did not let this disadvantage lessen his desire to build up his body physically. He was a splendid athlete, going in for many kinds of sports. However, he was particularly adept in swimming. At one time he succeeded in swimming the Hellespont, a singularly remarkable accomplishment for a man with a club foot. In 1808, he wrote to a friend: "Last week, I swam in the Thames from Lambeth through the two bridges, Westminster and Blackfriars, a distance, including the different turns and tracks made on the way, of three miles."

THE COACHING STAFF

Ever since 1913 Coach Johnson has been at the helm of Presbyterian Athletics, and has stuck by it through all these years. Among the coaches of the South, he ranks with the highest and the success which P. C. teams have enjoyed has been due almost wholly to the work of this one man. A lasting tribute to the man are the athletes who have gone out after four years under him.

As his right hand man "Lonnie Mac," has had great success, especially with track. He was one of P. C.'s stars playing under Coach Johnson's tutelage. He is by far the best track coach in the state, indeed in many states, and as freshman football coach he has done much to start the men off right.

And there is Eichelberger, a peach of a fellow, and an excellent line coach, and one of the forces who have developed men of whom P. C. is justly proud.

If it's in the man these men will bring it out. We lift our hats to you.

THIS page is dedicated to Hugh L. Eichelberger who has in the past rendered invaluable service to the athletic teams of Presbyterian College. A few years ago Hugh gave his personal services to P. C. as a member of her football and baseball teams. Since then he has given much of his time each year to assisting Coach Johnson in making those clean, hard-fighting teams of which P. C. is proud.

THE 1932 Blue Stockings, with only two defeats and one tie against them, had a very successful season, reaching their highest peak, after a rather bad showing against Mercer, in their overwhelming victory over the Citadel 27-0.

With only ten days of practice they lost to the much heavier Clemson Tigers in the first game 13-0. In this game the Hosemen showed much potential strength, which Coach Johnson soon developed into a strong machine. The work of the team, with such a short period of practice, called for much comment from the press and observers, and pointed to a season which was not in the least disappointing.

The following week Lenoir-Rhyne was meted out a 9-0 defeat by the stockings. Adams played a wonderful game, punting the Blue Hose out of danger time and again. Perrin had not yet reached his peak, and though the diminutive Adams was forced to allow his position to be filled by the heavier and stronger sophomore, the fine showing made by the Presbyterians in the first games was due to his generalship and fine punting.

Mercer dealt out the worst defeat ever to be suffered by a Presbyterian team, defeating them in Macon 52-0. However, in the following games of the season, P. C. played superb football, defeating in rapid fire High Point, Wofford, Citadel and Erskine, yielding a tie only to the Newberry Indians at their Home-Coming game.

Against High Point the Blue Hose were at a peak. Barrett crossed the Panther goal line for three touchdowns, while Perrin pranced ninety yards behind perfect interference to return a kick-off for another tally.

Before a three thousand Home-Coming Day crowd, including two hundred Lander girls, P. C. defeated Wofford 19-0. Harry Bolick made the most spectacular play of the game, when in the second quarter he dashed off tackle, eluding three Wofford players and went seventy yards for a touchdown. Barrett made the second touchdown soon after the opening of the second half, and late in the game

Bolick, after bearing the brunt attack, again smashed over five yards for a touchdown. Perrin began to shine on punt returns in this game, making spectacular run-backs time after time.

Against Newberry the Blue Stockings suffered a let down in their offensive, and only by a strong, furious drive in the final period were able to tie the score 7-7 with four thrusts at the line by Bolick and a perfect placement for extra point by Copeland.

The Presbyterians reached the supreme peak of the season against Citadel when they trampled the Cadets 27-0. The entire backfield ran wild, but Bolick, playing in his home town, gave the home folks the most spectacular exhibition of elusiveness and line plunging they had witnessed in a long time. He scored three of the four touchdowns, Copeland recovering a blocked punt for the other, and Copeland's boot converted three extra points to make the final score. Entering the game with the odds against them, Presbyterian lost little time in proving they were the stronger of the two teams. They were obviously superior in the first half, but broke loose in the second to score three touchdowns and run mercilessly over the bewildered Citadel.

The victory over Erskine, 14-0, came as an anti-climax to the season. Two of the Hesemen were placed on the mythical all-state, Copeland at end and Bolick at half. Bolick took scoring honors in the state, and when the season ended, the Presbyterian eleven was perched safely in second place.

All credit is due to Coach Walter A. Johnson, who, with a mass of raw material, consisting mainly of sophomores whipped out a powerful scoring eleven and a strong defensive team. Completing his nineteenth year as head coach at Presbyterian, he is to be congratulated for his excellent work with the team. Although several sterling men in the line, including Ewing, Elliott, Copeland, and Pinson, will be lost to the Blue Stockings next season, a great mass of material is left for what should be an even better team than the one this season.

P. C. FRESHMAN went through a fairly successful season. After showing much promise in the first three games the Rats failed to come up to expectations in the last two. Perhaps the best showing was against the strong Clemson outfit.

Higbe was the shining light of the backfield, scoring more than two-thirds of the total points amassed. Correll, Davis, Forehand, and Horne were strong in the line; while the field generalship of Wilbanks was dependable throughout the season.

BASKET-BALL

BASKET-BALL, in which Presbyterian College is always much weaker than in track or football, gave hopes of coming out of their habitual slump when the 1933 season started. When Coach Lonnie McMillan gave the call for basket-ball men, a good squad of sixteen varsity men and twenty freshmen answered the call. Among these were some well-seasoned veterans, such as Adams, Nettles, and Copeland. Unfortunately, Barrett, one of the best guards in the state, was unable to report because of injuries received in football. However, as the season progressed Lynn came forward with brilliant performances in this position, and consistently played sterling ball.

Last year's freshman class also added to the bright prospects for the season. Clark, Waldrop, Bolick, and others were looked to bolster a team that had hitherto had little success. From Presbyterian Junior College, in Maxton, came Ferguson, and his performance during the season has not been disappointing.

WITH good prospects, the team went to work in earnest, but as the season went by, the Blue Stockings seemed to fall short. The players lacked height - they were midgets in comparison to the members of other teams. However, they were speedy and knew basket-ball, and, in spite of being handicapped by the height of opponents, they always played a close game until this extra speed that they were forced to put forth began to tell on them. The team usually tired out in the second half and the opposition would run up a score that was impossible to overcome in the closing minutes of the game. In nearly every contest there was a final burst which came near to tying or winning, but was always a few points short.

Coach McMillian cut his squad before the actual season began to thirteen men, so that most of his time could be given over to developing a polished machine. However, because of very unfortunate circumstances, practically all of these were dropped from the squad before the end of the season.

THE freshmen basket-ball squad had just a fair season, if about a .500 score can be considered fair. At the time the annual goes to press there are still four games to be played. The freshmen have just about an even chance for victory in at least a couple of these games.

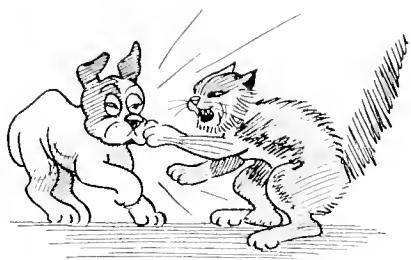

There are quite a few good men who went out for the team. The best combination was: Levi and Wyatt at forwards, Forehand at center, and Adams and Bradley at guards. Quartermann was another good guard. Another forward who saw service was Little. Belk was used often at center.

Several of these men will be fine material for Coach McMillian's varsity team next year. These men are to report next fall for early practice so that Coach will have adequate time for getting them in shape for the 1934 season.

BOXING

ALTHOUGH boxing is one of the youngest sports at P. C., it is one of the most outstanding. This year it was viewed with a great deal of interest by both the student body and by outsiders.

More men reported this year than for any previous year. Of these, quite a few were seasoned veterans and the rest were novices. Coach Johnson put these men through strenuous workouts and finally selected the following boxers to represent the college: Seagle, Bissett, Clark, McDuffie, Parker, Horton, Bolick, and Sims.

Jimmie Seagle, of Camden, S. C., was new to the art of fisticuffs, but by the end of the season he proved himself capable. Fighting the 119 pound weight, Jimmie showed that he had the stuff it takes to make a boxer. He used an aggressive style that proved fatal to his opponents. We are expecting great things from him in the next two years.

A boxing team would not be complete without a southpaw! Bissett handled the job this year in the featherweight division. He didn't have much science, but his left was hard, and he had plenty of stamina and grit.

BOXING

BILL CLARK, lightweight, was also new to the game. However, he learned quickly and turned out to be one of the Blue Stockings' best mittmen.

Jim McDuffie represented the welterweight class. Although a sophomore, he had had previous experience and proved a great fighter.

This was Freeman Parker's third season as middleweight. With an improved style and unlimited endurance, he showed the dependable qualities to be a fighter of class.

Harry Bolick was undoubtedly the best boxer on the team. Though only a sophomore, Bolick was a veteran at the game. He attracted wide attention throughout the state in the light-heavy class.

Jimmie Horton, captain of the team, was also in the light-heavyweight division and was as dependable in his fighting as in leading his team.

With yet another year to go, Bob Sims, heavyweight, has shown vast improvement and has turned out to be one of the most valuable men on the squad.

THE SWIMMING TEAM

WITH the beginning of the new year—1933, another intercollegiate sport made its debut on the Presbyterian College campus—Swimming. Since the completion of the Leroy Springs Swimming Pool in 1929, it has been the desire of Coach Johnson to see this form of athletics get a foothold on the campus. The pool is one of the finest indoor pools in the South, and thus gives the boys who will represent P. C. in this sport the advantage of wonderful training facilities.

Walter A. Johnson, the father of athletics at P. C., is responsible for this new form of athletics, and James Brewer, a freshman, is the instructor of the team. Brewer, besides being a good swimmer has had quite a bit of experience in Red Cross instruction, and so is well qualified for the position.

On March 7, the first swimming meet of a P. C. team is scheduled to be held with Furman in Greenville. This meet will be returned by Furman a few days later. At the time of writing plans are also being perfected for the swimmers to enter the state swimming meet.

Dossey McFadden was elected captain of this program. Other members of the squad who will see action are: H. M. Wilson, C. E. Denny, F. B. Parker, Hays, Valley, Walter, Adams, Carson, and Hannah. No letters will be given in this sport to allow freshmen to participate.

With this form of activity, Presbyterian College now maintains eight forms of inter-collegiate sports: Football, Basket-ball, Boxing, Baseball, Track, Tennis and the Rifle Team. Certainly no college in the state, and very few, if any, in the South can boast of an athletic department including so many different branches.

BASEBALL

THOUGH suffering a number of reverses in the baseball season last year, prospects for that sport at Presbyterian are very bright indeed for this spring. Last year the team suffered from lack of material and although there were some fine stars, there were not enough to put over a winning team. Coach Johnson has this year bent all his efforts in getting out as many men as possible for baseball. Indications point toward a strong team.

Among those who stand out for the prominent positions on this year's squad, are: Nettles, Adams, Plowden, Robinson, Ross, Bolick Woods, Holcomb, and McCutchen. Several veterans appear in the list of candidates, but the main punch in the team is expected to come from those men who were either freshmen last year, or were ineligible until now to play.

THE Coaches have warned the men that they must work for their positions, and that the strictest training must be kept if they expect to remain on the squad.

It has been due to a great extent to Coach Johnson's efforts that an intercollegiate league was formed in the state, now entering upon its second year of existence. Furman has been added to the number who composed the league last year and all the old members, Carolina, Wofford, Erskine, Clemson, Newberry, and P. C. have joined for the second year.

COACH JOHNSON has also been working strenuously to raise enough funds to continue the sports program this year. Many schools in the state and elsewhere have cut their athletic programs, but Coach Johnson has sought rather to practice rigid economy within each division, rather than allow any curtailment of the Presbyterian sports schedule.

With the assurance that nothing will be cut, the Blue Stockings may cast about for a high position in the state race, especially in view of the fact that interest in the school and among the candidates for various positions, P. C. may look for a birth not far from the top.

PRESBYTERIAN'S track season for the year 1932 was not the most successful in history, but in several respects the team was without equal in the state. Her middle distance runners, Osman, Graham, and Senter were the states best. Gillespie and Parker showed up well in the long distance runs, while the work of Ewing and Freeman led the state stars in the discus and javelin, respectively.

Coach McMillian's boys met the Florida "Gators" on March 26 to open the track season. Freeman was probably the biggest sensation of this meet, winning first place in the javelin throw. Copeland won the pole vault at eleven feet. Osman and Senter held the middle distance crown, while Woods placed high in the 100-yard dash. The Graham-Woods-Senter-Osman relay team began their march to fame with their sensational victory in this meet. But in spite of all this,

Graham

Parker

Copeland

the Blue Hose were holding the "Gators" tail at the end, with the score: University of Florida, 91, P. C. 40.

On April 2 the Blue Hose lost to the Carolina "Birds" by a 75-54, regardless of the number of track wins, and in spite of the fact that Powell Freeman broke the state javelin record by tossing the spear 180 feet 6 inches. In the races the Blue Hose men won 16 of the 24 places, but in the field events the score ran the other way around although Pinson, Woods, and Freeman scored points.

Again on April 9 the home track was a scene of a hard fought defeat. This 90-41 victory by the University of Georgia team was similar to the 91-40 victory by the "Gators." The Blue Stocking racers did their best, but the Georgia field men were too much for them. Four South Carolina field records were surpassed in this meet. Batchellor of Georgia broke the state javelin record, and their broke the state shot put record. The records in the discus throw, and the pole vault also tell. The high light of the meet was the final event—the mile relay. The first three men all finished even, leaving the decision of the race to Osman of P. C., and Williams of Georgia.

Regardless of "Turk" Osman's brilliant performance against the Clemson "Tigers," the Blue Stockings were on the little end of a 70-56 score when the meet at Clemson College ended, April 16. Osman took first place in the 440-yard, and 880-yard runs, breaking state records in the 440-yard dash and the mile run. 50.7 was the time on the 440, and 4 minutes, 36.2 seconds for the mile. Lowry and Lynn made good in the hurdle races, while Ewing came first in the discus, with Stamps coming second. Parker was outstanding in winning the two mile run, with Redmond coming third.

FRESHMAN TRACK

THE freshman track team of Presbyterian College during the year 1932 was the best in years. They won every meet, coming out far ahead of their closet rival in the State Meet after breaking ten freshman records.

Their first victory was over the Carolina Freshmen in Columbia on April 8. The score was 73-43. On April 16 they journeyed to Clemson to defeat the "Cubs" 75<sup>1/2</sup>-41<sup>1/2</sup>. Next they traveled to Davidson and defeated them 81-36. Furman fell next by a 74-43 score. Then came the Freshman State Track Meet, May 6. There Clark, Yearout, McElrath, Reeder, Waldrep, Lowry, Carothers, Underwood, Patton, McDuffie, Jordan, Oliver, and McCaskill showed the people in Bailey Stadium what a freshman team could really do. Records fell in nearly all of the events—P. C. freshmen breaking ten of the thirteen broken.

TENNIS

UNDER the direction of Professor R. L. Coe we are looking forward to one of the best tennis teams in the history of the college. Three men, W. J. McCutchen, M. E. Gregg, and Claude Pepper form a nucleus for a championship team.

This year there has been added to the team two men, W. M. Ransom, a senior who plays a steady game and C. F. McCutchen, a sophomore who has a terrific drive.

With these five men we look for the most successful tennis season ever at P. C.

P. C. CO-ED BASKET-BALL

WITH but eight girls answering the call, Coaches Bissett and Forehand shaped a very capable team; and it can be said that our Co-eds had a successful season.

In the opening game they were defeated 48-36 by the "All Stars" of Laurens. The next game gave them a 50-13 score against Goldville. They met their hardest opponents, Newberry Co-eds, at Newberry. This game ended with Newberry holding the lead 22-20. Then P. C. again defeated Goldville 53-35. A slight change in the lineup seemed to strengthen our offense. With this change the team whipped the Laurens "All Stars," who defeated them in the opening game. However, it was nip and tuck. The score ended, P. C., 21—"All Stars," 20.

Encouraged, we look forward to meeting Newberry on our court. This game will end the season for the Co-eds.

Self-exiled, Byron left England in April, 1816, never to return. For the rest of his life he was a wanderer in Europe. In 1823 he cast his lot with the Greeks in their struggle for independence from Turkey. He was appointed commander-in-chief of an expedition against Lepanto. It is a singular thing that Byron should be fighting for Greek liberty on the same spot where he had penned his first immortal lines for Greece, that he should be offered the crown of Greece on the same shores where he had camped on his wanderings several years before. On April 9, 1824, he contracted a fever. He died ten days later. The poet whom England had refused a home had given his life for the cause of Greek liberty. And that country has never more been a vassal of the Turk. Byron had won his battle, though he lost his life in fighting it. England never sensed his worth and the greatest poet of his age was denied even a tablet on the wall of Westminster Abbey!

Scenes at Camp McClelland

Lord Byron's brown curly hair, deep grey eyes, full chiselled lips, and strongly modelled chin—along with beautifully developed body—made of him an unusually handsome man. He has been called "The Glorious Apollo." His appearance and his charming personality made him a favorite with the ladies. One young woman, who had heard the false rumors forever floating over London about him and who had seen him for the first time, said of him: "Mad, bad, and dangerous to know,—yet, what a face!"

Byron's stay in Italy was made much more enjoyable by his intimacy with Countess Guiccioli, who is reputed to have been a very beautiful girl. The young Lord's famous poem, STANZAS TO THE PO, was written to commemorate his love for this woman, whose home was on the banks of that beautiful Italian river.

Give, oh, give me back my heart!
Or since that has left my breast,
Keep it now and take the rest!
Hear my vow before I go,
Zoë, mou, sas agapo!"

On January 22, 1809, Byron's coming of age was celebrated at Newstead. In March of the same year, the young Peer entered the House of Lords for the first time. So unpopular was he, it was with difficulty that he found someone to introduce him. He took the oath, and withdrew in disgust after three days for Newstead, never again to take advantage of his being a Peer until three years later, upon his return from wandering in Europe. Byron was seeking to avoid the criticisms of an unappreciative London. On February 27, 1812, he entered the House of Lords for the second and last time. He made his first speech and it was highly praised. On that same night, Byron's masterpiece, CHILDE HAROLD was published. The next morning he "awoke and found himself famous."

RETROSPECT

*"My task is done—my song hath ceased—my theme
Has died into an echo; it is fit
The spell should break of this protracted dream."*

I wish to avail myself of this opportunity personally to thank each member of the staff—and all other friends—for their willing co-operation, without which this volume would never have gone to press; to express my appreciation to Mr. C. E. Nichols for the unexcelled photographic work; and to voice my gratitude to the firm of Foote and Davies for their superior service, advice, and co-operation—especially to Messrs C. W. Young and Earl Sanders.
To these belong whatever laurels may be due the PaC-SAC of 1933.

COLLIS H. LAND

Editor.

*The college yearbook is a great invention;
The college gets all the fame,
The printer gets all the money,
The staff gets all the blame.*

After the critics had so harshly criticized Byron's boyhood poetry, HOURS OF IDLENESS, he wrote ENGLISH BARDS AND SCOTCH REVIEWERS, a biting satire which was aimed at the critics and which brought upon the poet the enmity of London. It was a marvelous work, however. Someone has said of it: "For the honor of having written it, I would have welcomed all the enemies it has made its author." Soon Byron suppressed the poem, and after satisfying himself that all available copies were destroyed, left London. He returned two years later. Soon after his arrival, he was walking down the street with the famous Sheridan and saw his book advertised at the Juvenile Book Shop, owned by Wm. Godwin, well-known Deist. Red with rage, Byron entered the store and bought every copy, twelve of them, which he immediately destroyed, with the exception of one, which he gave to a young lady who had meanwhile entered the store for a copy, and whose charm Byron could not resist.
